Cyclers to Play W. H. S.

What is being styled the game of the year is booked for this evening in the Y. M. C. A gymnasium between the Thread City Cyclers and the Windham high school basketball teams. Great rivalry exists between these fives, owing to the fact that a number of the club's fives were former stars of the high school.

The high school outfit is generally conceded to be about as fast as any combination ever turned out at the local school at one time and are just at present playing in top notch form, and if they should be able to trounse the Cyclers' team the highest rung of their ladder of ambition would have been attained. The teams will probably be made up of the following players: Cyclers to Play W. H. S.

Cyclers Have Christmas Celebration. The Thread City Cyclers held their annual Christmas eve celebration with annual Christmas eve celebration with a tree and all the trimmings that so delight the boys at the club's rooms last evening. An unusually large number of members was present and many of the gifts tendered and received provoked a hearty laugh.

There was singing and other music furnished by various artists of the club's own superb ministrel company. Last night's joilification was upon an even more elaborate plan than that of a year ago, and the happy crowd made the most of the enjoyable occasion.

CHRISTMAS CAROLS Sung on Streets and for the Cheer of Inmates at Town Farm and Jail.

Christmas carols were sung on the streets of Danielson between 3 and 12 o'clock Christmas eve. This new and pleasing feature of acknowledging the advent of the great holiday in Danielson was arranged and participated in by the young people of the Congregational and Methodist churches. The young people of the latter church also made a midnight trip to the town farm and the jail at Brooklyn, the trip being made in several automobiles, and carried a lively Christmas greeting to those within the institutions.

Mrs. Nellie R. Inman Fell Down Cellar Stairs-Her Lamp Exploded, Setting

Fire to Her Clothing.

Mrs. Nelies R. Inman was fatally burned late Thursday night, when she fell down the cellar stairs at the home of Anthony Ames, where she has been employed as housekeeper since the death of Mrs. Ames. The lighted lamp which she was carrying was dashed to pieces and spread a mass of blazing oil over her clothing. Mrs. Inman died Friday at noon. The other members of the household had retired for the night at the time of the accident. Miss Clara Stevens, however, heard Mrs. Inman's groans and smelled the burning flesh and clothing. Miss Stevens and Mr. Ames found Mrs. Inman lying at the foot of the cellar stairs, her clothing still burning. After extinguishing the flames it was found that the woman had sustained serious injuries in addition to the terrible burns. She had evidently fallen nearly the entire length of the stairs and had struck on her head on the cement floor of the cellar. The scalp was torn open from the eye back to near the crown of the head and particles of the cement had been ground into the flesh of the face.

Mr. Ames and Miss Stevens carried Mrs. Inman upstairs and summoned Dr. Frank P. Todd and Dr. Rienzi Robinson. They found the body, arms and legs of the injured woman a mass of burns. The burns on Mrs. Inman's back were especially severe. The physicians were engaged until an early hour Friday morning attending the injuries. While Mrs. Inman remained partly conscious, she was unable to explain just how she had come to fall. She was to have been taken to the Day-Kimbail hospital at Putnam Friday morning, but her condition became so serious that it was decided not to remove her from the home of Mr. Ames.

Mrs. Inman, who was about 66 years of age, has lived in Danlelson for sev.
